Month End Commentary - February 2022

Front-end and intermediate yields continued their climb higher in February with two-year yields advancing 25 basis points and five-year yields 11 basis points higher on the month. While the front-end continued to climb, longer-dated yields moved in a more muted fashion with the ten-year yield ending the month up 5 basis points. With the lopsided move in yields, the interest rate curve continued the flattening trend with the all-important difference in ten-year and two-year yields closing the month at 39 basis points. Stocks and spread sectors continued their poor performance with the S&P 500 declining by 3.14% while short-dated agency and corporate spreads widened out by 2 and 12 basis points respectively.

Markets were abruptly disrupted in February with the Russian invasion into Ukraine that sent commodity prices soaring and risk assets lower. While relatively small economies, Russia and Ukraine account for an outsized share of the world's export volume in several key commodities including oil, gas, wheat and fertilizer. While the U.S. economy and labor markets are on strong footing, the inflationary impacts from the invasion and the tightening of financial conditions will be monitored closely to see how consumer spending holds up as real wage growth was already negative prior to the shock.

In response to strong labor markets and elevated inflation, the Federal Reserve is set to begin raising interest rates in March with markets anticipating a 25 basis point increase. Market participants expect the Fed to move faster this cycle than after the global financial crisis with nearly six hikes priced into 2022. Despite elevated inflation and geopolitical events that are driving commodity prices significantly higher, the market continues to price in a relatively low terminal rate for federal funds with current pricing around 1.75% to 2.00% in 2023. The risks to interest rate markets has now shifted from when will the Fed hike rates to how far the Fed needs to go to achieve their goals. If a higher rate is needed, there is room for the curve to re-steepen and shift up in yield to match a higher terminal rate. Conversely, if economic growth and inflation cools more rapidly than expected, the curve may invert as the Fed progresses with rate increases.

We expect continued volatility as the backdrop grew increasingly more challenging with the rise of geopolitical events and accompanying commodity price shock. Interest rates appear attractive with nearly 6 hikes priced into 2022 and a flat interest rate curve. In spread sectors we look for pockets of weakness to add into agency, municipal and select corporate opportunities that are insulated from the events unfolding in eastern Europe.

The changes in market values displayed represent approximations of principal changes given an instantaneous increase in interest rates. Changes in interest rates over longer periods would most likely mitigate the impact of an instantaneous change through the addition of the interest income received on the investments within the portfolio. Additional impacts to consider when estimating future principal changes also include, but are not limited to, changes in the shape of the yield curve, changes in credit spreads.

This report is for general informational purposes only and is not intended to provide specific advice or recommendations. Government Portfolio Advisors (GPA) is an investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission and is required to maintain a written disclosure statement of our background and business experience.

Questions About an Account: GPA's monthly & quarterly reports are intended to detail the investment advisory activity managed by GPA. The custodial bank maintains the control of assets and settles all investment transactions. The custodial statement is the official record of security and cash holdings and transactions. GPA recognizes that clients may use these reports to facilitate record keeping and that the custodial bank statement and the GPA report should be reconciled, and differences documented.

Trade Date versus Settlement Date: Many custodial banks use settlement date basis and post coupons or maturities on the following business days when they occur on weekend. These items may result in the need to reconcile due to a timing difference. GPA reports are on a trade date basis in accordance with GIPS performance standards. GPA can provide all account settings to support the reason for any variance.

Bank Deposits and Pooled Investment Funds Held in Liquidity Accounts Away from the Custodial Bank are Referred to as Line Item Securities: GPA relies on the information provided by clients when reporting pool balances, bank balances and other assets that are not held at the client's custodial bank. GPA does not guarantee the accuracy of information received from third parties. Balances cannot be adjusted once submitted however corrective transactions can be entered as adjustments in the following months activity. Assets held outside the custodial bank that are reported to GPA are included in GPA's oversight compliance reporting and strategic plan.

Account Control: GPA does not have the authority to withdraw or deposit funds from or to any client's custodial account. Clients retain responsibility for the deposit and withdrawal of funds to the custodial account. Our clients retain responsibility for their internal accounting policies, implementing and enforcing internal controls and generating ledger entries or otherwise recording transactions.

Custodial Bank Interface: Our contract provides for the ability for GPA to interface into our client's custodial bank to reconcile transactions, maturities and coupon payments. The GPA client portal will be available to all clients to access this information directly at any time.

Market Price: Generally, GPA has set all securities market pricing to match custodial bank pricing. There may be certain securities that will require pricing override due to inaccurate custodial bank pricing that will otherwise distort portfolio performance returns. GPA may utilize Refinitiv pricing source for commercial paper, discount notes and supranational bonds when custodial bank pricing does not reflect current market levels. The pricing variances are obvious when market yields are distorted from the current market levels.

Amortized Cost: The original cost on the principal of the security is adjusted for the amount of the periodic reduction of any discount or premium from the purchase date until the date of the report. Discounts or premiums are amortized on a straight-line basis on all securities. This can be changed at the client's request.

Callable Securities: Securities subject to redemption in whole or in part prior to the stated final maturity at the discretion of the security's issuer are referred to as "callable". Certain call dates may not show up on the report if the call date has passed or if the security is continuously callable until maturity date. Bonds purchased at a premium will be amortized to the next call date while all other callable securities will be amortized to maturity. If the bond is amortized to the call date, amortization will be reflected to that date and once the call date passes, the bond will be fully amortized.

Duration: The duration is the effective duration. Duration on callable securities is based on the probability of the security being called given market rates and security characteristics.

Benchmark Duration: The benchmark duration is based on the duration of the stated benchmark that is assigned to each account.

Rating: Information provided for ratings is based upon a good faith inquiry of selected sources, but its accuracy and completeness cannot be guaranteed.

Coupon Payments and Maturities on Weekends: On occasion, coupon payments and maturities occur on a weekend or holiday. GPA's report settings are on the accrual basis so the coupon postings and maturities will be accounted for in the period earned. The bank may be set at a cash basis, which may result in a reconciliation variance.

Cash and Cash Equivalents: GPA has defined cash and cash equivalents to be cash, bank deposits, LGIP pools and repurchase agreements. This may vary from your custodial bank which typically defines cash and equivalents as all securities that mature under 90 days. Check with your custodial bank to understand their methodology.

Account Settings: GPA has the portfolio settings at the lot level, if a security is sold our setting will remove the lowest cost security first. First-in-first-out (FIFO) settings are available at the client's request.

Historical Numbers: Data was transferred from GPA's legacy system, however, variances may exist from the data received due to a change of settings on Clearwater. GPA is utilizing this information for historical return data with the understanding the accrual settings and pricing sources may differ slightly.

Financial Situation: In order to better serve you, GPA should be promptly notified of any material change in your investment objective or financial situation.

No Guarantee: The securities in the portfolio are not guaranteed or otherwise protected by GPA, the FDIC (except for non-negotiable certificates of deposit) or any government agency. Investment in securities involves risks, including the possible loss of the amount invested.
